

Digital Networking

Queen Mary, University of London

21 March 2014 14:00 – late

A one-day networking event, sponsored by the British Academy, aimed at bringing together early career scholars interested in developing Digital Humanities projects. The day will combine targeted networking sessions and group workshops, with presentations by guest speakers designed to address the practicalities of running digital projects and to provide advice on grant applications. Speakers will include James Cummings (Oxford), Konrad Lawson (St Andrews), Christina Von Hodenberg (QMUL) and Andrew Shaw (QMUL).

The day is aimed at all those interested in taking up or enhancing a digital project (irrespective of previous knowledge and expertise). Registration is free of charge and is inclusive of refreshments and dinner, but places are limited. If you are interested in participating, please send a brief description of your interests and a short biography to Eyal Poleg and Jenny Hillman at digital.network.14@gmail.com by 28/02/2014. Travel expenses will be reimbursed.
